RECOVER BODIES FROM CHERRY MINE.

Nearly One Hundred Miners Found Huddled in Death on Second Level.

WORK OF THE CHICAGO FIREMEN

Clearing the Mine So Rescuers Can Explore Workings for Entombed Men—Many Bodies to Be Brought Up this Afternoon.

United Press Telegram.
CHERRY, Ill., Nov. 19.—Three more bodies were taken from the ill-fated St. Paul mine early today and seven left on a ledge in the main shaft will be brought to the surface later. Firemen and miners rescuing the bodies declared they found 50 or 75 huddled in a heap on the second level but a few feet from the main shaft. These will be brought to the surface this afternoon.

For five hours today Chicago firemen fought the fire on the second level, scorning the use of oxygen helmets. They were dressed the same as on the surface. When they came up they reported the air on the second level good and believed if the fire was effectively checked the work of recovering the bodies could be resumed.

The fire here was the direct cause of a strike at the Marquette mine, 12 miles distant. The miners declare the mine is unsafe and will not return to work.

There was no disorder connected with bringing the bodies to the surface. Two were identified, Andrew Buckles and Louis Gibbs. The work of locating the bodies is progressing. The firemen say all the bodies are burned black but the features are still intact.

TENERIFFE THREATENED BY ERUPTION OF VOLCANO

Inhabitants of the Island Rush Panic Stricken to the Coast for Aid.

United Press Telegram.
MADRID, Nov. 19.—The volcano at Mt. Saleres is in violent eruption and threatens the destruction of the island of Teneriffe. In the Canaries, messages say the inhabitants of the towns in the Orutava valley are rushing panic-stricken to the coast in efforts to escape from the island by ship.

The eruption is hourly growing more violent and torrents of lava threaten to overrun the entire valley. Guta, lead, Santiago and Tinguies have been deserted by the inhabitants and every available vessel in the vicinity is being ordered to Teneriffe.

LISBON IS SWEPT BY TERRIFIC HURRICANE

Great Loss of Life and Property is Reported from Portugal.

United Press Telegram.
LISBON, Nov. 19.—Lisbon has been swept by a great hurricane following the tidal wave from Tugus, 100 feet high, which dragged steamers from their anchorage and sent the river up beyond control. Lights were extinguished everywhere and many houses blown down.

When the hurricane broke a street in progress. Clouds were thrown into panic and scattered through the city. It is rumored there were many fatalities but the details are unavailable.

BURNING CARS.

Work Was Started Yesterday at Several Points Destroying Old Ones.

Work was started yesterday along the stretch between the old Baltimore & Ohio bridge over the Youghiogheny River and Dunbar in the destruction of all the old cars that have been gathered there. All that is being saved from the cars is the scrap. This is being sold on cars and shipped to the Pittsburgh market.

The company has gathered together on the Mt. Pleasant branch several hundred worn out cars and these will be destroyed in a similar manner. All the cars are of undersized tonnage and are not equipped with air brakes.

Five in Family Had Diphtheria.

Two members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. Davis at South Connellsville are recovering from an attack of diphtheria. The victims were three grown daughters and two children.

GET FIVE DUCKS.

Burgess Evans and J. E. Sims Have Good Luck.

The report that there were ducks on the Breakneck reservoir caused Burgess Evans and J. E. Sims to hike in that direction yesterday afternoon. They succeeded in bagging five of the birds. The Burgess found four in the pocket he covered and hunted three of them. Sims got an even break, landing two of the four he found.

This morning Mr. Sims and Councilman William McCormick went to Indian Creek to hunt ducks on the reservoir of the Mountain Water Supply Company.

GOOD SAMARITAN IS BURGESS J. L. EVANS

He Promised to Aid Lawrence Fulmer, Springfield Township Lad.

Burgess J. L. Evans played the Good Samaritan in police court this morning when Lawrence Fulmer of Springfield township was arraigned before him. Lawrence was charged with vagrancy and admitted the accusation. When arrested some weeks ago the boy had been working in a local livery stable, but lost his job since then and has been trying to support himself selling papers.

The lad said he had been driven from home by his step father and could not go back to the mountains. He was advised to go back and try to get work on some of the farms. Falling in that, Burgess Evans told him to try to get work on the extension of the Indian Creek Valley railroad.

"I will see President Charles F. Hood and see what he can do for you," promised the Burgess.

Then he gave the lad a quarter and told him to get on his way.

A BAD SMASHUP RESULTS FROM RUNAWAY

Peddler Thrown From Wagon this Morning on East Main Street and Badly Bruised.

A bad smashup resulted on East Main street this morning when the horse of a few peddler ran off just west of Apple street and started down the hill at terrific speed. Opposite the home of W. R. Kenny the animal ran onto the pavement and the wagon smashed into a trolley pole.

The peddler was thrown upon the Kenny terrace and badly bruised. He could not speak English and was greatly excited over the mishap. The horse was not injured.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

For Over Score of Patients at Cottage Hospital.

At least 22 patients will spend Thanksgiving at the Cottage State hospital. Following the usual custom Thanksgiving dinner will be served and every effort will be made by the superintendent, Miss Craft, and her assistants, to make the day pleasant as possible for the patients.

Cumberland Weddings.

William Henry Cannon of Sand Patch, and Miss Jane Sechrist of Rockwood; Ernest D. Christopher and Miss Maude Underwood both of Fairchance, were granted a marriage license in Cumberland Wednesday.

DUCKS ON DAM.

Word Came to Connellsville This Morning That They Are Plentiful.

"Ducks are on the dam." This is the message that came to August Stickel this morning from his friends at the Indian Creek reservoir and he spread the news as quickly as possible.

The result was that a number of sportsmen shouldered their guns and ate today endeavoring to bag some of them. Mr. Stickel states that during the past week hundreds of them have been killed.

Held For Murder.

Isaac Moore, the negro who confessed to shooting Jasper Kenney, at Newell last Sunday, was held to await the action of the Grand Jury by the coroner's jury at the inquest.

Senator Robbins Here.

Former Senator U. L. Robbins of Greenwich was a Connellsville visitor last evening meeting many of his old acquaintances.

LABORER HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM CREMATION

Louis Sorretto Caught in Furnace at the High School When Gas Exploded, Being Driven Through Man Hole Feet First—Painfully Burned.

Louis Sorretto, an Italian laborer employed by Contractor C. H. Brown, had a narrow escape from cremation in the High School furnace enroute in the work. He escaped with singed eyebrows and mustaches, together with a badly burned shirt and pair of overalls. Only the native agility that he displayed in extricating himself from a precarious position saved his life.

Sorretto was laying bricks in the fire box of the furnace. The heat is generated from gas, which had been turned on long enough for the fire box to cool off. The space through which the Italian entered was about three feet long and 18 inches high. Inside the firebox, and above Sorretto were several big gas pipes and burners. The Italian had been working for some time when the janitor happened along. It was then that Contractor Brown heard a hissing sound. Looking down he saw one of the gas valves, about six inches above the floor had been knocked on in some manner. Mr. Brown leaped to the spot and turned off the gas, but was just a second too late. So much gas had already escaped that it exploded from Sorretto's torch.

An inventory showed that Sorretto's mustache, burns admission that his shirt had been burned off, together with his eyebrows. His shirt and overalls were ablaze, but those were quickly extinguished. That the man was not fatally injured as a result of the explosion is regarded as most fortunate.

NEW SCHEDULE

On Baltimore & Ohio is Being Framed Up at Local Offices.

Rapid progress is being made on the framing up of the new Baltimore & Ohio schedule in the local offices of the company. Not many changes are expected in it, and it is thought that it will go into effect about November 27.

More than ordinary attention has to be paid in making the schedule this year on account of the increased freight traffic. To this end all heads are combining to make a schedule that will meet both passenger and freight requirements.

TRYING A HOLDUP ON THE WEST PENN.

Owners of Land Along Proposed Line Want Exorbitant Figures.

ONE MAN ASKS $200,000

Preliminary Survey For the Road to Uniontown About Complete—View Here of Talk of Big Expenditures at the County Seat.

It was stated on good authority today that the new line the West Penn proposes to build to Uniontown by way of Leisenring and Oliver may never be constructed. While the preliminary survey is about complete, there is a hitch in the right of way department.

Several large property owners in the vicinity of Uniontown, it is stated, are attempting to work a hold up game on the company and unless these parties come to terms the whole plan will be abandoned.

One man is said to ask something like $200,000 for a right of way across his property and this is regarded as out of the question.

"We told them the same thing we told the Uniontown Council," said an official of the company today. "Unless we can get what we want at a reasonable figure the whole project will be dropped."

It is believed the rights of way can be secured at a reasonable figure, but an early change in the route may be made, if the line is built at all. The experience the company had with the proposed line from Scottdale down the Morgan Valley is well remembered here. The company originally intended to build it down the Morgan Valley by way of Broad Ford, but because exorbitant prices were asked for some rights of way the line was never built.

Reports that large sums are to be expended in Uniontown by the West Penn Railways Company are not taken seriously by the officers of the company here. "It is easy enough to talk about spending $600,000, and a good part of that for a fine new building, but what will the stockholders say to that proposition when it is put up to them? Will they be willing to authorize that expenditure for something that will yield practically no return?" an official said this morning.

The officials here refuse to take stock in the argument that Uniontown is the logical center of the trolley system. They say Connellsville will hold this honor for many years to come. They point to the fact that extensions are being contemplated in the Greensburg district that may prove just as important as the recent development of the Kioddyke.

The corps under Chief Engineer J. L. Fritsch will complete its survey of the proposed new line to Uniontown by way of Leisenring and Oliver within a few days while the right of way department has not been idle. Practically all of the rights of way have been secured.

MORE DELEGATES FOR THE DEMOCRATS

In the State Convention Next Year There Will Be 304 Delegates.

Special to The Courier.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 19.—Over 304 delegates will be in the Democratic State convention next year. Philadelphia and Allegheny counties will have over 70 delegates between them. This is almost equal to their representation in the last convention.

It was thought that Philadelphia had fallen off in its Democratic vote, but the official returns show that its average is better than the poll of the State candidates in 1908. While Allegheny had 20 votes in the last convention and will fall back to about 20 in the next, the increase in the Philadelphia vote will make the representation of the two cities about the same.

Philadelphia, Allegheny, Berks, Fayette, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Lehigh, Lycoming, Montgomery, Northampton, Northumberland, Schuylkill and Westmoreland have more than enough votes to control the convention.

Col. Guffey has always had the support of many of the smaller counties.

A study of the apportionment of delegates for 1910 makes it difficult to figure out how control of the convention that will nominate a governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs can be wrested from him.

Fayette will have eight delegates, Westmoreland eleven, Somerset one, Greene two, and Washington three.

MAY LOCATE GARAGE IN CONNELLSVILLE

Harry E. Seaman of Greensburg Making an Effort to Secure a Site Here.

Harry E. Seaman of Greensburg has been in town several days making an effort to secure a location for a large automobile garage. The Friesbee lot on Apple street is under serious consideration, while several lots belonging to L. F. Ruth on the South Side are also talked of.

If Seaman can secure a proper location he states that he will build the largest garage in Fayette county and use it as a distributing point for the sale of automobiles and automobile supplies.

RAILROAD BOUGHT IN.

Bondholders Get the Western Maryland for $6,500,000.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 19.—(Special)—The Western Maryland railroad was bought today at auction by the bondholders for six million five hundred thousand subject to items.

The sale is in accordance with a reorganization plan previously announced. Harry Cooper and Frank Nicodemus, attorneys representing the bondholders were the only bidders.

Set For Whisky.

SOMERSET, Nov. 19.—(Special)—James Thompson & Brother, importers, have instituted an action in the assumption to recover from Thomas Turner of Windber $183,81 alleged to be due for five barrels of Kentucky whisky purchased from the plaintiffs by Turner.

Railroads Need Rain.

Shortage of water is seriously affecting railroad operation. The Baltimore & Ohio is keeping eight tank cars on duty hauling water from Glenwood to the pumping station in Butler.

It is not likely that the extension will be completed before spring but it will be pushed as vigorously as possible, as the company is anxious to be in a position to handle as much business as is obtainable during the next year.

Killed by Mule Kick.

James Edmunds, a Washington, Pa., negro was killed Thursday afternoon at work in the mines of the Keystone Coal & Coke Company.

Special Train May Be Run.

A special train may be run over the Baltimore & Ohio on Thanksgiving Day for football fans who want to see the State-W. V. U. game at Morgantown.

Rain Tonight.

The old star mine on the Monongahela river will shortly resume operations.

President at Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 19.—(Special) The yacht Mayflower, with President and Mrs. Taft aboard, arrived at eight o'clock this morning. A salute of 21 guns was fired by the fort. Later the President addressed a crowd from the Pier.

SAILORS KICK ON TREATMENT GIVEN.

Say American People Do Not Treat Them Right When They Are Ashore.

WERE ARRESTED IN TOWN

Both Had Been Discharged For Leaving Ship Without Permission—Six Months on Board Without Shore Leave Made Them Sour.

The attitude of the American people towards its soldiers and sailors was given an awful jolt in police court this morning when Frank Williams and A. T. Olsen were arraigned for disorderly conduct at the Baltimore & Ohio depot last night. Both boys declared they do not have half a chance to find a job after it becomes known that they have served in the army.

"Why in Norfolk they have signs posted that read 'No Sailors, marines or dogs admitted,'" said one of them.

Officer M. F. Wilhere arrested the lads about 10:30 last night. They were taking a nap in the waiting room.

It developed that both of them had been dishonorably discharged from the service for leaving ship without permission. That was the sentence of the summary court martial held in their case.

"We hadn't had shore leave for six months," they explained, "and one night about 20 of us went ashore. The usual punishment is a fine of $5. They discharged a lot of us and punished the others. Some of the boys had been in the service for 20 years."

The lads said the Cruiser Montana left Santiago, Cuba, and went to Gibraltar. From there it touched Smyrna, Messina, Alexandria and Naples, but the Captain would not allow them to go ashore at a single port. When they returned to Norfolk they had been on ship for six months.

The boys were held for 48 hours while their case is investigated. Both are potters by trade and are working their way to Ohio.

UNION PRAYER MEETINGS SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Will Be Held This Evening in Christian and Methodist Protestant Churches.

At 7:15 this evening there will be held two union prayer meetings. The meetings will be preparatory for the evangelistic campaign that begins next Wednesday evening. The services tonight will be held in the Christian Church on the South Side and in the Methodist Protestant Church on the North Side. All members of the Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist Protestant and Methodist Episcopal Churches will attend the North Side service and all others the South Side service. It is desired that these services may be attended by all interested in this movement. At the close of the meetings there will be a meeting of the Personal Workers at the Y. M. C. A. This meeting will be addressed by Rev. R. C. Wolf and Rev. E. A. B. Palmer at the subject of "How To Do Personal Work." It is vital that all members of this committee be present.

Never before in the history of the community has such a large and thoroughly planned campaign been entered upon by all the churches. Efforts are to be made to interest all neighboring towns in the movement. Christian people everywhere are requested to lay aside all petty differences and unite heartily and prayerfully for the awakening of the community. In a recent letter from Dr. Ostrom, the Director of the Campagna, he says: "What we want now is that the people shall 'make good' in the effort by prayer and organization and dedication so that the will of God may be accomplished in a great awakening in your city." This all Christian people desire. Let all who read this dedicate themselves therewith to this splendid cause.

LANDED ATTRACTION FOR THANKSGIVING

After Lively Skirmish Manager Fred Robbins Gets Fine Bill for Next Thursday.

For the past week Connellsville was threatened with very quiet Thanksgiving so far as any amusement was concerned. Football was promised, but it fell through and the High School still sat in Johnstown on that day.

The booking agencies were urged to put a good attraction in Connellsville for Thanksgiving, but the plannings were to vain. Thus week Manager Fred Robbins of the Solson got busy on his own account and the result is announced today. He will have a high class vaudeville attraction at the Solson in three and eight Thanksgiving evenings, such as appears at the Avenue Theatre, Pittsburgh. Manager Robbins took the vaudeville ten acts in all in preference to a solo-drama offered and says he is willing to guarantee its high standard.

NEW COPPER PROCESS.

Discovery Will Interest Metallurgists and Manufacturers.

J. Fred Kurtz, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. C. Kurtz have obtained control of the new process discovered by S. H. Shandor and W. S. Sanner. Final experiments were made this week, the results of which will prove interesting to metallurgists and manufacturers.

By the process copper, it is claimed, is so tempered that it becomes harder than ever known, yet, at the same time, it can be bent, forged and rolled to perfectly malleable. It also gives it a ductility equal to pure copper, a tensile strength heretofore unknown, materially increases its conductivity and renders it absolutely non-corrosive.

The process may be utilized in the manufacture of armor plate. In the field of electricity it will be prominent factor, it is stated, as copper wheels are used on trolley poles, which now last only a short time.

SOCIAL.

With Turkey Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pickard gave their annual wild turkey dinner Wednesday evening at their home on Eighth street, to a number of their friends. The fowl was among the game secured by Mr. Pickard on his annual hunting expedition and in the rough weighed 40 pounds. The dinner was served in several courses and was sumptuously appointed in every detail. Five hundred followed.

A color scheme of pink and white was prettily carried out with chrysanthemums and carnations forming the floral decorations. The out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolf and wife, Misses Alice and Mrs. E. H. Hess and daughter, Mildred, and son, George, of Uniontown; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hempstead of New Salem.

Arrangements for Banquet.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the dinner and ball to be held in the immediate Connexion Church on Thanksgiving evening. The ladies have left nothing undone toward having the affair a success and assure their patrons a fine supper and a most enjoyable evening. For several weeks a large corps of ladies and young girls have been engaged in making lace work and already many articles have been disposed of. The Young Ladies' Society will have charge of the various booths.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Ladies of the Methodist Church will be held at the home of Miss J. S. Eldred on Crawford avenue to take action on the names of new candidates submitted by Mattilda Guller, who is late from Bellerville working in the interest of the church. It is reported that up until the present time there were 24 candidates for membership. The meeting will take place sometime in December.

Important Sale of Fine Furs

An Opportunity to Save from $1.00 to $10

On Every Purchase

We are overstocked in Furs, and are therefore going to conduct a sale, offering you choice of over 1,000 pieces of dependable furs at reasonable reductions. Furs have advanced from 30 to 100 per cent and by placing our orders before the time we got the lowest prices. The goods then are exceptional values at the regular prices.

Prices have been pared down considerably, and you have now the opportunity of supplying all our cold weather needs in this line at markings that suggest a provision even for future needs.

Nothing in our entire line of furs has been reserved. Every piece goes—a fresh, new, desirable article, 'tis true—but greatly shattered as to price.

Values are really remarkable for such high-grade merchandise. Come early for your share, or you'll be too late to get 'em.

You should take in consideration that you are purchasing from a reliable firm and that you are getting nothing but dependable furs.

Opportunity of this sort means quick action, these furs won't stay here long. Just a few of the pu chase-tempters

CITY GOVERNMENT AND ITS CONTROLLERSHIP.

The statements of the Borough Treasurer, to the effect that some of the town's creditors are being paid twice, emphasize the importance of Connellsville taking on a third-class city government as promptly as it can after the census enumeration shall have shown its right to become such corporation under the law.

There are many good reasons why a city government is better for a big town than a borough government, and not the least of these is the fact that the city government is provided with a City Controller.

The City Controller is the check and guard and balance wheel of the corporation. He stands between those authorized to incur public indebtedness and the public treasury where such indebtedness is paid. The Controller is a perpetual and vigilant Auditor, on the job, not over a year and periodically, but every day in the year and vigilantly.

Borough Auditors examine the accounts of boroughs once a year. Statements of the accounts are commonly either compiled by the authorities or presented in the form of certain records, and these are usually cursorily examined and approved, the examination seldom going further than a verification of the clerical work. Few Borough Auditors have a full comprehension of their powers and duties. It is their duty to not only check up and verify each item of expenditure, but also to determine whether it was a lawful expenditure of the public money, and if it was not to surcharge the amount, individually and collectively, to those responsible for the expenditure. This is rarely done. The history of century-old Connellsville records not a single case. Borough Auditors were either too ignorant of their powers and duties, or too complaisant to those whose expenditures of public money had been wanton or reckless or worse, to set down any surcharges.

The City Controller, however, does not wait until the end of the year to examine in a careful way warrants for the payment of public money. His approval is required to every warrant before the money can be drawn upon it. He scrutinizes it before it is paid, not afterwards. If payment is unlawful, he stops it. He thus not only saves unfeigned officials from the danger of being personally arraigned for the illegal expenditure of public moneys, but he also prevents the public treasury from being robbed of sums of money which, if recovered at all, are restored only after a great deal of time and trouble.

In short, the City Controller sees the Culwful Expenditure first, and that is the best time to see it.

THE JOY WAGONS OF GREENE COUNTY.

A Waynesburg special says a Pittsburgh man was arrested for running his automobile faster than the borough ordinances provide, and that the Burgess had to dust off his docket when he entered the complaint and recorded the fine.

This story does not comport with the recent statement that Waynesburg has more automobiles than any other town of its size in Pennsylvania. If automobiles are common to Waynesburg it is fair to assume that speeder is opinion, and if spending in common why should a stranger be made an example of?

Why should the Burgess of Waynesburg be required to dust off his docket, and possibly soil his fingers, to enter such a charge?

Time was when Greene county citizens were of the soft and did not hesitate to soil their fingers with the soil whence they extracted either through grain or wool, or fat cattle or fatter hogs, a comfortable without a quiet living, heedless of that mineral wealth which lay beneath the soft and which in these modern times has made the farmers independent of agriculture and caused many of them to remove to the county seat and provide themselves with all the luxuries of existence including the modern joy wagon.

It is evident, under all the circumstances, that speeder is common to Waynesburg and the Pittsburgh visitor has been imposed upon, or that the Waynesburg motorists run their machines at the same gait they formerly ran their bay wagons.

STREET COMMITTEE AND CONTRACT WORK.

The Street Committee boasts that its street work has been done below the price bid by contractors. There is a just measure of pride in the boast.

It does not necessarily imply that the Street Committee men are better managers than the contractors, but only that there has been no grafting in the job. The contractor expects to make a reasonable profit on his work and this is always added to his bid.

If, therefore, the borough work in charge of the borough officials is honestly and intelligently done, there is no reason why it should not be done at less cost than the average contractor's bid; and if it is not, it is time for the borough authorities to look into the methods of the committee.

When Uniontown wins in basketball we learn from the newspapers that the visiting club wins the State, but when the visiting club wins we are advised with confidential indisposition that the referee did it. It was the same with baseball. The Uniontown club always won by brilliant playing and always lost by the action of an unfair umpire. Mud Island concedes with Uniontown. We have had similar experiences. Ain't it awful?

UNION SUPPLY CO.

Quality Considered Prices Are Lower Than Elsewhere.

This applies to every department in each of our sixty-three general stores. We substantiate this statement daily. The best evidence is the large quantity of goods we sell, not only to people living at the coke works, but to a large number of people living in towns throughout the coke region and not employees.

Compare our Groceries and Provisions with the opposition's throughout the region. Compare the prices, compare the quality, compare the quantity we handle, and you will easily conclude that we are in a position, as very extensive dealers, to excel all competition. Our prices are lower because we buy in such large quantities. The quality is always good. Perishable goods are not kept in our stores long enough to become the last bit bad. The quantity sold at any one of our stores is as large as any opposition store—then remember we have sixty-three stores.

SCOTTDALE MAP FOR INDUSTRIES.

Pipe Mill Having One Made to Show Growing Room.

HAVE NOW THE BIGGEST PLANT

Of Its Kind in the World—Chances
For Getting New Industry Are Good,
Other Notes of the Mill Town.

SCOTTDALE, Nov. 19.—The United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Company are having an exhaustive improvement map made of their holdings here. The map is being made to submit of the pipe mill interests to known exactly what they have to spread their mills upon and it is not improbable that the coming year will see some new addition to the plants here, which are the largest of their kind in the world. The business has been very active and the map will be used if further improvements should be considered and perhaps every opportunity and direction for enlargement of the mills here.

Has Bought Mills Route.
Jacob L. Rittenhouse has bought the milk route of W. Scott Hill of Everson, who had the misfortune a few weeks ago to have his big barn, his two silos and several cows buried in the ground fire that devastated his place in Everson. Mr. Rittenhouse was formerly an engineer here and there went east where he resided for about a year, but returned to Scott dale where the business opportunities are greater.

Is Making Improvements.
John F. Ryan, an active young merchant of Everson, is enlarging his place near the West Penn vinduct. He is building a large addition on to his store room and putting in a lot of concrete work about the place. Concrete is coming very generally into use in Scottdale and Everson and several people are engaged exclusively in doing this kind of work.

Married in California.

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Lulu Lowry, formerly of Scottdale and Ernest Portlow, a resident of Riverside, California. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lowry and Miss Lowry, the daughter, went to California for Mrs. Lowry's health over a year ago, and now took up their permanent residence there.

Gave a Dance.
The Ellsworth park auditorium was the scene of a handsome dance given last night by a number of the society people of town. Excellent music and a luncheon were features of the entertainment.

Weighmaster is Busy.
Weighmaster W. E. Henry has had a busy month so far as the Borough scale industry has been concerned, a great deal of weighing having been done. Cabbages have been one of the stable products of borough revenue during the month, for a great deal of foundation for water rent has been hauled over the scales. "Doe" G. H. G.

Cabbage, west of town has been one of the heavy head growers. Cabbages shipped in have also been in large amount. Joseph Bulard who lives on the hills down about Chidlowton was a great hauler this season. With his spring wagon he hauled in several loads of grape, half a ton or more at a time this fall, and sold them to the Italian residents. The natives of the grape growing hills of that sunny land have been skillfully turning the American grape into wine.

Wesley Party Enjoyable.

The unique John Wesley tea party given by the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the dining room of the church was well patronized last evening. There were several excellent talks on the life of Wesley and then an English tea was served.

Prospects Are Good.

The prospects for landing a new industry for the town, one that will employ 2,000 men in manufacturing lines, is said to be good. The industry, or any place for that matter would improve the condition of every person now living here and they all should encourage the securing of such additional factories and mills if possible.

The proposed new industry is the steel car plant, which is also negotiating for a site in Connellsville.

Courses Opens Tonight.

The Y. M. C. A. lecture and entertainment course opens at Geyer opera house this evening with the Dunne Company, Bell Ringers and Quartettes. The course this year is the best patronized of any since this was inaugurated by the association several years ago.

"The Blue Mouse."

Advance sale of seats for "The Blue Mouse" at the Colonial theatre next Wednesday evening, November 24, begins tomorrow at Thomas & Brown's store, formerly located at 117 W. Main street. Both phones.

MACCABEE WEDDING.

Morganstown Young Lady Will Be Bride at Former Town.

On Thanksgiving evening the marriage of Miss Annie Bloom of Morganstown, W. Va., and Mr. Daniel Brougher, of Greensville, will be held in the Macabee Hall at Morganstown. The event will be the first of the kind in the history of the organization. Miss Bloom is a trained nurse.

The Value of Proprietary Medicines is proven by the very large percentage of physicians' prescriptions for the same remedies found in every drug store in America, but as they are written in Latin, few patients realize this fact.

The old standard proprietary medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that have stood the test of time, deserve a place in every family medicine chest and it is most certain they would not be prescribed by physicians if they were able to devise a formula equally as efficacious.

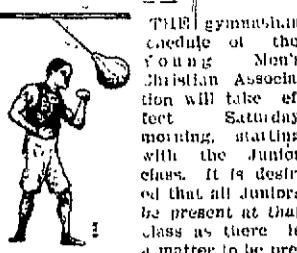

GOING UP IN TEXAS.

Arthur Ways Assistant Circulation Manager on Fort Worth Paper.

Arthur Ways, a former Connells ville boy, son of Mrs. Josephine Ways, is now assistant manager of circulation for the Fort Worth Dispatch, an afternoon paper of the Texas city. A recent copy of the Dispatch quotes a story from The Courier regarding recent gas in the Menongahela river in Texas gas in 50 cents a thousand.

THE GYM SCHEDULE AT THE Y. M. C. A.

It Goes Into Effect on Saturday Morning Starting With the Junior Class.

THE gymnasium schedule of the Young Men's Christian Association will take effect Saturday morning, starting with the Junior class. It is desired that all Juniors be present at that class as there is a matter to be presented to the boys that will appeal to them.

In just years the wood pile and balcony afforded exercise for the majority of men. In the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium can now go the old woodpile one better by combining good wholesome exercise with genuine fun. The average business man, spending as he does from 10 to 12 hours a day in the office, needs something to counteract the evil results of inactivity. An hour twice a week will make that indigestion, stiffness, headache and Joggyness disappear.

DILLON WALLACE LECTURE

Given in Christian Church on Tuesday Evening, Nov. 23.

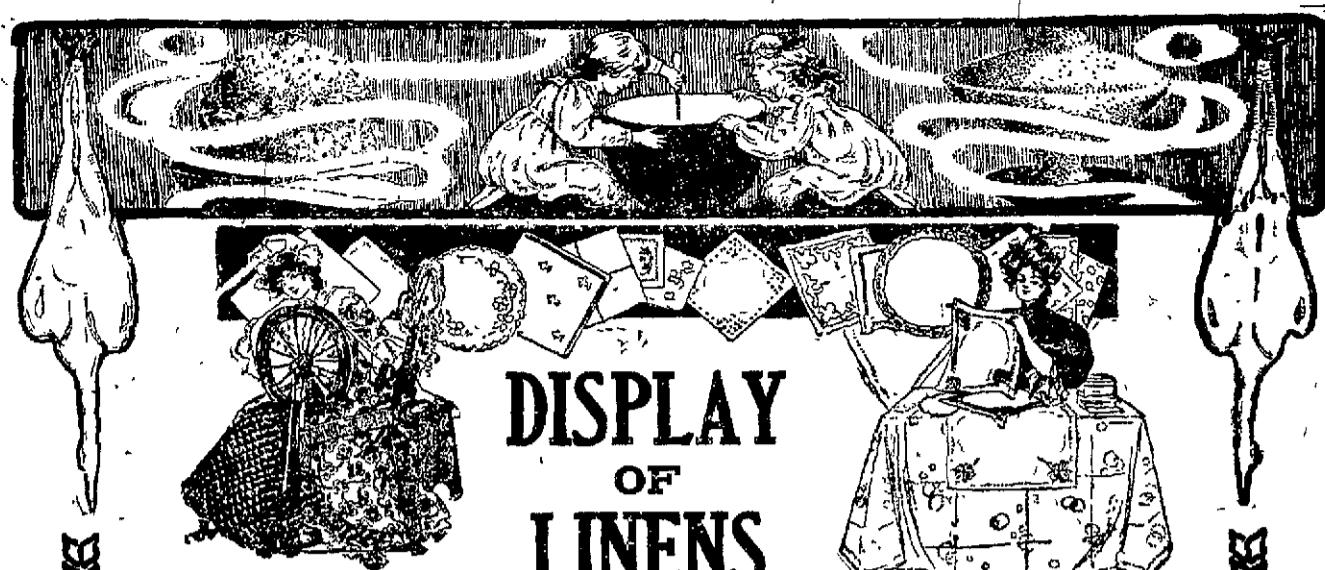

Dillon Wallace, explorer, author and traveler, will lecture in the Christian Church on next Tuesday evening, Nov. 23, at 8:15. His subject, "The Long Labrador Trail" will be illustrated by 140 stereopticon views. Until this year Mr. Wallace has been under the Pond Lecture Bureau of New York which is a guarantee of his ability and worth. The Arctic and the Explorers clubs of New York had arranged with him to hold the Cook Rellef Expedition, made unnecessary by Cook's famous message that started the world.

Mr. Wallace will lecture under the auspices of the Men's Class of the Christian Church, his coming having been made possible by 75 citizens guaranteeing the necessary expense. Tickets 50 cents.

GAME PLENTIFUL THE HUNTERS SAY.

Game Commissioner Says
Hundreds of Deer Will Be Killed.

ARE MULTIPLYING RAPIDLY

Winged Game and Rabbits Also Abund in Pennsylvania Which Is Said To Be the Greatest State For Hunting in the Country.

From 700 to 800 deer will be killed by Pennsylvania sportsmen between now and December 1, according to John M. Phillips, who is a member of the Pennsylvania game commission. The deer killing season began November 1 and expires December 1. Mr. Phillips believes that within the next five years deer will be so plentiful in Pennsylvania that the meat will be offered at public sale during the season. The quail season has ended, the 20 days allowed by law having expired.

"A close watch is being kept on violators of the game laws," said Mr. Phillips, "and all persons known to violate them will be prosecuted. Deer is more plentiful in Pennsylvania now than it has been in years. Under the law a doe cannot be killed and a doe will raise one fawn the first year and two the second—she will average probably one and a half a year. Pennsylvania is unquestionably one of the greatest game-hunting States in America. I venture to say that from 200,000 to 250,000 persons go hunting annually in this State. The season for hunting pheasants expires December 1 and a close watch is being kept on sportsmen to prevent them from killing more birds than allowed under the laws. Hunters are not permitted to shoot more than five a day. If people only would hunt game because of the sport there is in it, instead of slaughering birds and other game just for the purpose of seeing how many they can kill, there would be more sport for everybody."

Mr. Phillips calls especial attention to that portion of the game law which reads, "No deer, ruffed grouse, commonly called pheasant or mall, commonly called Virginia partridge, killed within the Commonwealth can be bought or sold at any time. No ruffed grouse, commonly called pheasant, killed outside the Commonwealth, can be sold during the open season for like birds in the Commonwealth and for 30 days thereafter. No wild turkey or woodcock killed either within or without the Commonwealth can be bought or sold at any time. All other game can be bought or sold in season."

The rabbit season will not close until December 15. Rabbits are plentiful in Pennsylvania and large numbers have been killed this year.

Mr. Phillips bases his estimate on the number of persons who annually hunt for game in Pennsylvania on the permits issued by the forestry division at Harrisburg. Numerous prosecutions have been entered this year against violators of the law and the strict watch being kept in all parts of the State for violators has done much, he says, to preserve the game of Pennsylvania. The present game has been a good one for quail and pheasants, especially the latter. Large numbers of these birds have been killed in some of the northern counties, where pheasants have been reported plentiful.

The game commission now has three preserves in Pennsylvania and these preserves are well stocked, especially with deer. It has been the aim of the commission not only to protect game of all kinds, but especially deer, which are growing in number each year. At the rate they are multiplying they will be numerous by 1914, unless something unforeseen should happen to cause great loss to the stock.

FRICK'S NEPHEW MAY DIE FROM UGLY BRAWL

Strafford With Toledo Woman Over
Glass of Beer and Fall
Three Stories.

Critics Press Telegram.
LAWRENCE, O., Nov. 19.—William Frick, nephew of H. C. Frick, the steel magnate, is dying. It is believed, at the hospital here as the result of a scuffle in the third story apartment of Florence Adams, a Toledo woman, Wednesday night.

Frick was sent to Logan county to recuperate his health. The woman defecates the two scuffled over a glass of beer and fell out of the window.

The woman escaped serious injury but Frick's legs were so badly broken one had to be amputated. He may never walk again.

Col. J. M. Schoonmaker's Death In Battle as Told by the Colonel.

Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, Vice President of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad, was somewhat humorously reminded recently that, as far as the official records of the Confederate army are concerned, he has been dead for 16 years. And even the United States Army and Navy Journal of September 12, 1863, tells of his being shot in battle and his burial on the field. The story of his fight without any mark to show his final resting place. However, Colonel Schoonmaker has been very much alive during these 16 years, and related to his wife to tell off everything on account of my death. At the same time he recalled the peculiar trend of circumstances which caused the position of a social function at the home of his uncle in New York, of my safety and arrived an hour earlier and almost caused his parents and relatives to become mourners for him. That night there was to have been a dinner at his home, but he sent a message to his wife to tell off everything on account of my death. At the same time he telephoned to my father, but luckily my telegram to my parents telling him of my death and my arrival at his office in the morning. CHAPTER XVI.

THE Moran apartment had undergone still another change. It was an office now, brilliantly lighted, for Haggleton's suggestion that the two windows facing the East river should be joined into one large observation window had been carried out. Jenny's little room had been turned into a "private office." The hall door had been removed to make place for sets of ground glass, on which was painted in large black letters, "East Side Associated Bookshops." The flat across the hall had been rented for living purposes.

Joe Caffrey had learned typewriting with gratifying celerity and turned out to be a most satisfactory speller. Moran alone remained unremained, watching with growing hostility the phenomenal rise of this man Jemmy.

Jemmy's disappearance had been a terrible blow to Moran. He had no delusion about the life to which she had returned and in his unreasoning hostility to society accepted this, too, to the curse of capitalism. Philip, too, was taking a great deal over Jemmy.

One afternoon Moran, simply but neatly dressed, was working at his desk and grumbling at his work, as was his wont. Joe sat at the typewriter, was tucking out letters.

"Say, Moran," he observed, "what's the use of being a klecker?"

"I'd rather be a klecker than a quitter," was the significant answer.

"Mendius me!"

"Yes, you. You used to call yourself a Socialist. Yuh."

"That was when I was broke. I wanted to die, now I've got something, and say—no dividing for me!"

"Hello," Joe exclaimed as he glanced at the morning paper. "Here is my old friend Haggleton again! His yacht has passed Gibraltar."

"Curse him!" growled Moran. "I hate him!"

"Ah, shut off the hot air! What has John J. ever done to you?"

Moran heaved around.

"What has he done to me?" he snarled. "He ruined my little business out west and made me a common laborer. He killed my wife in his sworn testament with constitution, he killed Jemmy's husband with his railroads, and he has sent Jemmy out into the world."

"You make me tired, Moran. If a man has the coils in this tenement they blame it on Haggleton."

Haggleton entered, followed by Gentle.

The head of the east side bakery trust sat down at his desk, saying to Gentle:

"I will be with you in a moment. Go into the private office."

True to his resolution, the old duffer now kept in daily touch with Haggleton and his son. The millionaire understood his motive perfectly, but never betrayed the slightest impatience or irritation.

Haggleton glanced at the morning paper.

"Hello," he said, "another model tenant fails to pay expenses." Tenants store their coat in the porcelain bath tub. Here, Joe, show that to Mr. Gentle. No wait, I'll do it myself."

He disappeared.

Moran closed his ledger, opened one of the drawers of his desk and took from it a revolver. Joe, looking over his shoulder, was taken aback.

"What have you got that gun for?" persisted Joe.

"Nothing."

Moran put the pistol back into the drawer.

"You have been playing with that gun for years, Moran," said Joe. "What's the use? You would never dare to use it. You are a milk and water anarchist. Why don't you get a bunch of firecrackers? They make more noise for less money."

"Go to a fool!" Moran's amazement gleamed. "I had no business to take this job."

"Well, then, why did you take it?"

"It was out of work. I wanted to help Jenny. Never mind what she has been. She is my daughter. She's all I have got, and now she's gone. I have lost her."

Two tears rolled slowly down his baby cheeks.

Joe was touched. He felt sincerely sorry, but after the manner of his kind, rebuked of this "softness." So he replied sternly.

"Jenny will turn up all right."

Bespoil distorted the old man's features.

"Where will she turn up?" he asked, in an agony of apprehension. "What is she doing now?"

"You've got a rancid philosophy?" expounded Joe. "Whatever is wrong, that's the way you dope it out. Say, you'd better get busy and pull those letters Mr. Jackson has signed or you'll lose this job you are so ashamed of."

Moran shuddered pit on his coat and sat took up a pile of correspondence which Joe had meanwhile stamped with lightning rapidity and walked toward the door.

Joe returned to his typewriting.

Moran, however, having reached the door, stopped hesitated and turned back. He approached Joe's desk, leaned over it and looked him straight in the eyes. The grim determination of his face daunted Joe a little.

"There, you," said the old man significantly. "I want to know something and I mean to find out. Where is Jenny?"

Joe shifted his eyes from Moran's face to the wall behind it and wriggled intensely in his chair.

"Why—er"—he stammered.

"Answer my question," said the other man, with ominous calm.

"I don't know, Moran."

"I believe you are lying. You know where she is and what she is. Make my words, I will find that girl! I will find her, I tell you!"

He continued to look at Joe intently, with a new determination in his watery, wavering eyes. His chubby mouth was drawn in a tight line. Joe was startled again, but again mastered himself. He looked back bold, steadily, resolved to keep him what he knew.

Moran's next action startled him still more. The old man took his keys out of his pocket, unlocked the drawer, took from it the revolver and slipped it into the pocket of his vestcoat.

Then he left the office without a further word.

Joe got up and walked up and down. He was now deeply disturbed, far more so than he would admit even to himself. This sudden demonstration of brawniness by the baby, snarling, barking Moran—well, he did not like it. No man is so dangerous, he knew, as a coward with a gun when he serves his cowardice up to the sticking point.

For whom was that revolver meant?

He cast about in his mind, but could settle on no particular person. Moran's hatreds were so all-inclusive and social and economic in the aggregate rather than particular.

Of course John J. Haggleton was to Moran the incarnation of all the evils of society, including the evil whose victim Jemmy was. But then John J. was away on his yacht for a three months' cruise, and Moran could not reach him with a pistol across the Atlantic ocean at Gibraltar.

There were the police and the police justices on their benches and the settlement workers, whose social superiority Moran detested. He hated the czar of Russia and the president of the republic. He did not like Jackson. He merely tolerated Gentle. He had begun to sneer at Phillip and his business activity. He was rude to Margaret Lawrence. Jenny alone he loved.

Perhaps he hated Joe himself. He thought of the pistol again. It might be turned against himself. Joe stopped in his walk.

He remembered what he had heard the leader of the gang he had deserted in time say upon one occasion: "When a man threatens you with a gun, shoot first, and do it quick. But if you're unarmed grab hold of his windpipe and squeeze. No man who feels the life being strangled out of him ever has presence of mind enough left to shoot. Instinct tells him to tear those hands away from his throat—to get air to breathe. He'll drop his gun to do it before he'll fire."

Joe became calmer. He lighted a cigarette. After all, what was he thinking about? Such nonsense! He dismissed the subject from his mind.

"It's an awful blurt," he said, half aloud. "It's a wild anarchist! He couldn't blow up a red balloon!"

Truth About Catarrh.

Sensible Methods Will Cure It—A. A. Clarke Guarantees Hyomei to Cure Catarrh.

Catarrh can never be cured by tickling medicine into the stomach nor by sprays, atomizers or douches.

Intelligent physicians have long discussed such ideas and not one of them would be worthy consideration were it not for the fact that unscrupulous persons prey upon the ignorance of the people in regard to new discoveries.

Catarrh is caused by germs and just as long as those germs thrive in the fields, croacles, rocks and corners of the mucous membrane that line the nose, throat and chest, just so long will you have catarrh.

There is only one way to cure catarrh, and that is to kill the germs.

There is only one remedy that will kill the germs when it gets where the germs are, and that is Hyomei.

Hyomei is made chiefly from Australian Eucalyptus and Eucalyptol combined with other germ killing ingredients. Just breathe it in through the hard rubber inhaler that comes with each inhaler and relief is immediate. Used regularly for a few weeks Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mee) will cure chronic catarrh. Come into our office and pay $1.00 at A. A. Clarke's and leading druggists everywhere.

MI-ONA Cures Indigestion

It relieves stomach misery, sour stomach, belching, and cures all stomach diseases or money back. Large box of tablets 50 cents. Druggists in all towns.

NOT ONLY THE INDIGESTION, BUT ALL STOMACH DISTRESS VANISHES.

Take a Little Diapospin Now and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine Five Minutes Later.

If your meals don't sit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which kills you; if what little you eat does like a lump of lead on your stomach, if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructation of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can cure all your trouble if you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bit of food you eat add to the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excesses and acid and stomach gas when soils you entire meal—interfere with digestion and cause so many sufferings of Dyspepsia, Stomach, Headache, Biliousness, Con-sipation, Griping etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name, your real and only trouble is that while you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sour, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pope's Diapospin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Formation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pope's Diapospin will regulate any out of order Stomach within two minutes and digest promptly without any loss of discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

GREEN ROOM CHAT.

THE COLONIAL.

"The Blue Mouse."

In Germany, Claude Flitch discovered the foundation of what is said to be the funniest farce ever presented on the American stage. The piece is "The Blue Mouse," which comes to the Colonial Theatre next Wednesday evening, November 26th, with a cast which includes Milleon Evans, Samuel Edwards, Guy D'Elancy, Carlo Mitchell, Mule Guard, and twenty others.

The scenes of the play are laid in New York. August Rollett, who loves his wife, wants to be promoted from the position of secretary to the president of the Inter-State railroad to a division superintendent. Now his superior, Lewellyn, has a human failing for pretty faces. Rollett seizes upon this weakness, engages Paulette Divine, who is known as "The Blue Mouse," to impersonate his real wife and flit with the president of the road. The farce is lost in starting the fun. The dancer begins her clever onslaught, which gives Mrs. Lewellyn, a tormented, a "scant." Also the real Mrs. Rollett is taken for "The Blue Mouse" and Lewellyn flirts with her, much to her disgust. Then Rollett's father-in-law, an odd character from Cohoes, drops in unexpectedly and meets Paulette, who is positive as his daughter. In the end act, which shows the "inner apartment of 'The Blue Mouse,'" complications come so quickly as to sharply confuse the audience. It requires three acts to straighten matters out. Paulette Divine, a now character to the stage, is not wholly bad and before the play is ended she has won the sympathy of the audience. Miss Evans is said to give to the part a graceful, candor and innocence which robes what otherwise would be a sketchy spectacle of a conscientious woman. The author, who staged and produced the farce, has likewise carefully eliminated all features which often characterize French and German farces as naughty. Sent out to the Colonist advance page. DUSTS OFF POLICE DOCKET.

Pittsburg Autoist Wakes Up Waynesburg Officer.

WAYNESBURG Nov. 19.—After one month without a single arrest by the police force, the Autoist of the First National Bank of Connellsville was the first to fall into the hands of the police.

Dr. J. H. Murphy was traveling through the borough in an automobile, when Policeman A. E. Gladden held a watch on him. The patrolman declared the doctor was violating the speed ordinance. Dr. Murphy left a $10 forfeit and burgess J. Harvey Zimmerman brushed the dust off the docket and made the entry.

TO CURE BED-WETTING

Thousands of children have weak kidneys. Parents who do not understand the cause of the trouble punish them for what they consider a mere habit. This is wrong—unjust to the child and often does great harm to the nervous system of the victim.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys.

If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, and it is yet afflicted with bed wetting, depend upon it, the CAUSE of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be toward the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder, and not to a habit, as most people suppose.

Catarrh is caused by germs and just as long as those germs thrive in the fields, croacles, rocks and corners of the mucous membrane that line the nose, throat and chest, just so long will you have catarrh.

There is only one remedy that will kill the germs when it gets where the germs are, and that is Hyomei.

ZOELLER'S KIDNEY REMEDY

will cure bed-wetting and strengthen the kidneys. A half bottle taken in small doses usually being sufficient to effect a permanent cure.

FOUR IN ONE FAMILY CURED

My four children, now aged 3, 5, 10 and 13 years, have always been afflicted with what I supposed to be nothing more than a habit of bed-wetting. I had about given up the hope of ever breaking them of the habit, when my husband happened to recommend Zoellier's Kidney Remedy to me. I purchased a bottle of Zoellier's Kidney Remedy at once and after using a total of three bottles for the four children the bed-wetting has stopped entirely as we all feel grateful. In curing my children it has certainly greatly benefited them and relieved me of a heavy burden.

EXPERTS ENTER WRECKED MINE.

Twenty Bodies Have Been Located by the Explorers.

MUCH SECRECY MAINTAINED

Experts After an Inspection Return to Surface With Pallid Faces—Report to Mine Officials and Every Man Is Pledged to Secrecy.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 19.—After three mining experts had made two trips into the St. Paul mine it was learned from a reliable source that they had found twenty bodies along seventy feet of the mine gallery.

The first body brought to the surface, that of Ollie Freinberg, was shielded from the crowd. The three men who explored the mine were pallid when they emerged. They immediately went to a Pullman car, where they were locked in with officials of the mine, the state inspectors and other experts. When their story was told every man was placed under oath to maintain secrecy.

President of St. Paul Railroad, Owner of Wrecked Mine.

The search for the bodies must last for days. The galleries must be strengthened and air sent into the thousands of rooms in the death cavern. Water, too, may have flooded some parts of the third vein.

The air shaft, following the exploration that resulted in the finding of twenty dead, was closed again and a full stream of water was directed into it. Then the main shaft was opened. The temperature of this shaft has been well over 100 degrees, but continuous sprinkling reduced it to about 90 degrees. When the canvas and sand with which the pit had been closed were removed a cloud of steam rolled out, but it was only a puff.

Men in helmets first descended to the fatal second gallery. They reported the mouth of the drift blocked by timbers and mud, but the fact that their safety lamps were not extinguished indicated the absence of black damp.

Report Conditions Perfect.

The next squad to descend went without helmets and reported conditions perfect for an attack on the flames within the gallery. Great difficulty was experienced in lowering a sufficient length of hose and it was late before success crowned efforts in this direction. The great weight of the big tubes repeatedly broke from the tackle hook.

Crews reported there was little heat at the mouth of the gallery, but search for bodies would not be practicable until the blocked opening had been cleared of debris. This promised to be tedious process. Beyond those obstructions the dead are believed to lie in heaps.

A silent crowd watched beside the main shaft. The two companies of militia forced them back with clubbed rifles. White-faced women and children whose relatives are in the mine still stand huddled near the mouth of the shaft. Most of them are silent. A few still weep. The faces of all are tense, drawn and frightened.

PATRICK APPEALS AGAIN

Makes His Twenty-fourth Attempt to Gain Freedom.

New York, Nov. 19.—Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the murder of William Marsh Rice, secured a writ of habeas corpus from Justice Hirschberger of the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn. The writ is directed against J. D. Frost, warden of Sing Sing, and is returnable on the afternoon of Nov. 29.

In his latest application Patrick presents certain matters which he forgot to incorporate in his last previous plea for liberty when he insisted that Governor Higgins had no legal right to commute his sentence to life imprisonment against his protest. The appellate division decided against him. In that instance and the appeal will be argued before the court of appeals in January. This is Patrick's twenty-fourth attempt to gain his freedom through appeal.

Sandusky, O., Nov. 19.—The Mahala block, situated near the heart of the business center and four stories high, was totally destroyed by fire.

MRS. STETSON OUT.

Christian Scientists Drop Her From Their Church.
New York, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, for two decades supreme in the affairs of the First Church of Christ, Scientist in New York, and recently freely mentioned as the successor of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy to the headship of the Christian Science church, has received notification that she has been excommunicated from the church by the directors of the mother church in Boston.

She had just returned to her home after the three days' ordeal of examination before the heads of the church upon charges of malpractice and malversation of the faith.

A statement was given out by the board of directors of Boston through Eugene R. Cox, head of the Christian Science publication committee of the state. This statement set forth the fact that the offenses proved against Mrs. Stetson had been twofold—that she had been guilty of working against the interests of members of the faith who were not her personal followers and guilty of persistence in teaching and practicing that which was not Christian Science.

Late last night Mrs. Stetson gave out a statement in which she declared emphatically that no student of hers would have not approval in separating himself from the Christian Science church.

NOTHING BUT PROSPERITY.

Carnegie Says It Is Impossible to Keep America Down.

New York, Nov. 19.—Andrew Carnegie, with a long cigar buttoned up to his ears, wearing warm gloves and the general aspect of Santa Claus, with his white beard peeping over the rump of his coat collar, left for Norfolk, Va., to meet President Taft.

In answer to suggestions and questions from the reporters Mr. Carnegie gave voice to these sentiments:

"Since I have been home I have looked over the business situation and have found everything in excellent condition. All our troubles have gone; there is nothing to worry about. You can't keep this country down. There are bound to be periods of depression, but they will be only temporary. I believe we are in for one of the greatest and longest eras of prosperity in the history of America. Yes, and the steel trade will be in it; it is going to do wonderful things."

"America is doing marvelous things, not altogether in the right line. As for me, I am not going to fly until I get wings and I hope that won't be soon. I wish that I could have been a reporter; and if I had been I suppose I should have owned a newspaper by this time."

LURTON IS TAFT'S CHOICE

For Supreme Bench—Rumored in Washington He Will Be Chosen.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Rumors current here are to the effect that President Taft, after a careful process of elimination, had decided to name Judge Horace H. Lurton of Nashville associate judge of the United States supreme court to succeed Rufus H. Peckham.

It is said that there is no possibility that President Taft will consider another name unless he should on inquiry find that the judiciary committee of the senate may be opposed to Judge Lurton on account of his age, which is sixty-five years. The judge, however, is said to be in the prime of his powers.
